Pornography Law Repeal Is Blasted

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission's call for repeal of U.S. adult antismut laws has been blasted as "the Denmark option" by three dissenting members—but two others say it doesn't go far enough.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed the 18-member Commission on Obscenity and Pornography report out of hand during a speech in Salt Lake City Wednesday night. He called it a product of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

"It's not our baby," Agnew said of the 12-member majority's report. "This commission was not named by President Nixon...As long as Richard Nixon is President, Main Street is not going to turn into Smut Alley."

However, two members of the commission, both sociologists, said the panel should have recommended repeal of all U.S. antismut laws, including those banning the sale of pornography to children.

"There is no substantial evidence that exposure to juveniles is necessarily harmful," said professor Otto N. Larsen of the University of Washington and Marvin E. Wolfgang, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania's sociology department.

"There may even be beneficial effects," they said, "if for no other reason than the encouragement of open discussion about sex between parents and children relatively early in young lives."

But Charles H. Keating Jr., President Nixon's only appointee to the commission, accused the panel of "following the Pied Piper of Denmark." He said its proposals would turn the United States into a "pagan, animalistic" country if Congress paid any attention to them.

FTC Head Determined to Protect Consumer Against False Ads

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission's new chief of consumer protection is heading for Washington determined to use dormant legal power to enforce a square deal for millions of American buyers bewildered by false advertising claims or stuck with shoddy products.

Agnew Says Group Was LBJ's Baby

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) —

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the nation has suffered an "erosion of decency" which is abetted by the philosophy of "radical liberals."

Completing the final leg of a Western campaign swing, Agnew disowned the report Wednesday of the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, which suggested repeal of antismut laws.

"No sir, your honor, it's not our baby," the vice president said.

"As long as Richard Nixon is President, Main Street is not going to turn into Smut Alley." Speaking to a $100-a-plate fund raiser for Rep. Lawrence J. Burton, R-Utah, Wednesday night, Agnew declared that "decency is under assault in almost

Anti-Soviet Campaign Is Protested

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union lodged a protest with the U.S. Embassy today charging that "an unbridled anti-Soviet campaign is being conducted in the United States for some time now by Zionist organizations."

"The government of the U.S.S.R. insists resolutely that the government of the United States should take all the necessary measures to cut short the dangerous actions of the Zionist extremists, which arouse the legitimate indignation of the Soviet public," the note said.

The protest said the campaign is accompanied by threats and provocations against institutions and representatives of the Soviet Union in the United States.

"Particularly active is the so-called 'Jewish Defense League,' whose provocative sorties create obstacles to the discharge of official functions by institutions of the U.S.S.R. in the United States and endanger the personal security of Soviet diplomatic and other representatives."

"The government of the United States must realize that the actual inaction of the American authorities in respect to the provocations of the Zionist extremists can only contribute to the campaign, hostile to the Soviet Union," the note went on, "and have unfavorable consequences for the relations between our two states..."

The note said the U.S. government had made assurances that appropriate measures would be taken to deal with "the provocative actions of the Zionists."

"However, contrary to these assurances, the situation has not changed to this day, from which it follows that the American authorities have still not taken effective steps to protect Soviet representatives in the United States from hostile attacks of the unbridled Zionists."

Life Almost Normal in Jordan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Life was almost back to normal today in war-torn Amman, but an Arab truce team was dispatched to investigate Palestinian guerrilla charges of renewed fighting in northern Jordan.

In Cairo, kings and presidents gathered with millions of Arab mourners for the funeral of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, who died Monday of a heart attack.

At the United Nations, the United States appealed Wednesday to Israel and Egypt to resume the Middle East peace talks, stalled since Sept. 6 after Tel Aviv accused Cairo of moving Soviet missiles into a cease-fire zone along the Suez Canal.

Early today, seven Arab commands were flown to Cairo after being released by Britain, Switzerland and West Germany in return for the freeing Tuesday of the last six hostages from multiple hijackings of airliners by guerrillas Sept. 6 and 9.

One of the freed guerrillas was Leila Khaled, who had been held in Britain 24 days for her part in an abortive hijack attempt.

She and the other six arrived in Cairo in time for Nasser's funeral. They were escorted by Egyptian security police from the airport to Palestinian headquarters in the Egyptian capital and planned to participate in the funeral cortege.

The last six hostages, all American men, arrived in New York Wednesday after being released in Jordan to intermediaries from the International Red Cross.

Amman Radio said a full cease-fire was effective Wednesday.

Millions Weep as Nasser Is Laid to Rest

By NICK LUDDINGTON

Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, hero of the Arab world, was laid to rest wrapped in a simple white sheet today after a funeral that provided an emotional explosion for millions of adoring Egyptians.

Nasser's body was taken from the casket after prayers by Egypt's top religious leader, Sheikh Mohammed Fahhan, director of Al Azhar University.

Verses from the Moslem Holy book, the Koran, were read by religious leaders as they placed Nasser's body in the grave in the garden of the Manshiat el Bakry mosque in a Cairo suburb.

Outside the mosque thousands of distraught Egyptians cried and shouted as their adored leader was interred.

Solemn-faced Egyptian dignitaries, not striving to hold back their tears, lined up at the graveside as the body was lowered. People broke through and rushed into the mosque garden to see the final moments of Nasser's funeral. The flag covering the casket was torn.

It was an emotional explosion for the Egyptians and the Arab world.

An explosion which began as millions of wailing, tearful Arabs and Egyptians massed along the 13-mile funeral route as an army helicopter started their beloved leaders on his final journey.

The helicopter flew over the mourners and landed at the starting point of the funeral cortege, an island in the middle of the Nile River.

Nasser's two sons, tears pouring down their cheeks, watched as the coffin draped in the red, white and black colors of Egypt was placed aboard a caisson to be drawn through the streets of the capital.

Acting President Anwar Sadat also broke down in tears as he led a file of dignitaries past the flag-draped coffin.

A Cairo Radio announcer interrupted his account of the scene and wept: "We have no one but you, O Gamal, why are you leaving us, where are you going? The whole Arab nation calls out for you."

Crowds waved countless pictures of their fallen leader and chanted: "Nasser, Nasser, you cannot die."

Nasser's widow, Tahia, fainted and was taken to a nearby

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia

(AP) — President Nixon talked for two hours today with President Tito on world problems, then headed for Zagreb.

The Yugoslav leader left the airport about 20 minutes before Nixon in a separate plane so he could be on hand to greet the American President in the Croatian capital. A visit to Tito's native village of Kumrovec is then on the schedule.

There was no indication immediately what trend the Nixon-Tito conversations in the federal executive council building took, but undoubtedly they covered the difficult situation in the Middle East.

Tito may not make the 28-mile trip to Kumrovec but was expected to return to Belgrade with Nixon aboard the President's plane.

Nixon arrived at Tito's office half an hour behind schedule. By prearrangement with the Yugoslav leader, he had stopped en route to meet with Dragoslav Markovic, president of Serbia, largest of the country's six republics.

After spending about 15 minutes in the downtown Serbian Council Building—and receiving from Markovic a bronze sculpture entitled "Mother and Child" for the White House collection, Nixon went to the Federal Executive Council Building for his meeting with Tito.

For several downtown blocks, crowds were almost as large as when the President arrived in Belgrade Wednesday.

At one intersection, Nixon followed his practice of stopping and plunging into the crowd for handshakes and greetings.

The first day of the visit was climaxed Wednesday night with a state dinner given at the White Palace by Tito and his wife. A power failure doused the lights briefly and forced the Titos and their guests to use candlelight.

Nixon gave an address urging all nations to respect the rights of others.

"Long ago Yugoslavia chose the path of nonalignment, and for more than two decades Yugoslavia and Marshal Tito personally have played major roles in the nonaligned movement throughout the world," he said. "We in the United States respect that position."

"But the great question today is not whether a nation is aligned or nonaligned but whether it respects the rights of others to choose their own paths, and Yugoslavia, by its example, has given heart to those who would choose their own paths."

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — American combat deaths in the Indochina war rose slightly last week to 63, and the number of American wounded went up to 344, the U.S. Command reported today.

The battle deaths for the week were 11 higher than the previous week, as were the number of wounded. Since Jan. 1, 1961, 43,737 Americans have been killed in the war.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported the number of government troops killed in action last week rose to 246, which was 51 more than during the previous week.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong battle deaths last week totaled 1,457—227 deaths higher than during the previous seven-day period, allied communiques said.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces cut the country's most important highway and have almost closed the second most important one in assaults southwest and northwest of Phnom Penh, the capital.

Route 4, which connects the capital and Kompong Som, the country's only deep-water port, remained officially closed today for the second day. All of Cambodia's petroleum products, heavy equipment and other supplies brought by ship come through Kompong Som, 114 miles southwest of the capital.

A military spokesman said enemy troops also made mortar and infantry assaults during the night against four government strongpoints along Route 5 in the area of Kompong Chhnang, 52 miles northwest of the capital.

He said the attacks lasted about four hours and that government fighter-bombers had to be called in to suppress them. Preliminary reports listed one government soldier wounded and a serious toll among Communist troops.

The spokesman said Route 5 was "technically open" but that it was highly dangerous for civilian traffic. Military traffic on the road was halted.

Route 5 is the only land route open to Cambodia's west and northwest. The spokesman said government forces had begun clearing operations in the area to reassert government control on about 25 miles of the highway.

Enemy troops closed Route 5 for two days last week and have periodically cut Route 4. However, they have not as yet attempted to block permanently either road. Permanent closing of either road would have major military and economic implications for the government of Premier Lon Nol.

every aspect of our lives."

Agnew planned to pay a courtesy call on Mormon President Joseph Fielding Smith today and conduct a 30-minute taped interview at KSL-TV, a Mormon-owned station, before leaving for Washington.

Hoping to boost Burton's campaign to unseat Democratic Sen. Frank E. Moss, Agnew repeatedly invoked a theme Wednesday night favored by Utah's predominant Mormon Church in calling for "self-discipline to control our impulses."

Agnew attacked the "radical liberal" term to Moss, as he has to other Democratic senators who are fighting to retain majority control of the Senate.

Earlier in the day in Minot, N. D., Agnew declared he would not support the re-election bid of Republican Sen. Charles Goodell of New York, describing him as another radical liberal.

A few hours later the Republican National Chairman, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, endorsed Goodell.

Shortly after his arrival in Salt Lake City, Agnew addressed a street rally in front of the Mormon Temple, and was greeted by about 2,500 supporters and several hundred chanting dissenters.

Agnew departed from his text to advise the demonstrators to stick to their opinions but to "do it with your minds, not with your butts."

Regarding the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, Agnew noted that all but one member had been appointed by the Johnson administration.

army office where she was treated by doctors.

Leaders of Arab nations lined up with other world leaders behind the caisson as the procession started toward a bridge connecting the island with the Nile bank.

Jordan's King Hussein, who only days earlier exchanged an angry series of messages with Nasser over charges that his army was trying to annihilate Palestinian guerrillas, wept openly.

Tears streamed from the faces of other Arab leaders as well, including the Libyan strongman, Col. Moammar Kadafi, and Sudan's president, Jaafar El Numeiri.

Other leaders included Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin; Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, and Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat.

A 20-officer drum and bugle corps preceded the caisson through the streets, and directly behind the coffin were officers carrying cushions on which the fallen leader's decorations were placed.

Along the route, huge crowds threatened to overwhelm the more than 50,000 troops and police. The funeral was somewhat delayed when tens of thousands poured through police lines and blocked a section of the funeral procession route, in front of the Nile Hilton Hotel.

Some foreign dignitaries had to be taken in helicopters to the starting point of the cortege.

Nasser's body was brought from Kubbah Palace, where it had been lying in state since his death of a heart attack Monday.

Three Radio Cairo announcers, overcome with emotion, had to be replaced. A fourth announcer soon wept openly over the air.

Hundreds of thousands of Egyptians blocked the capital's main avenues, breaking through police cordons and prostrating themselves on the ground. Armored cars were unable to clear the way.

The wailing of women was heard through the city. As the procession began moving slowly away from the island, there was the thud of a 101-gun salute fired from Cairo's Citadel, the ancient fortress dominating the city.

The first mile was reserved for the official mourners but from there, the radio said, "the funeral belongs to the people." Moslems throughout the Arab world planned to pray in their own mosques, and processions were planned in the streets of cities and villages throughout the Middle East.

Arabs in Israel and the Israeli-held territories also mourned. The biggest demonstration of grieving for Nasser was at Al Aqsa mosque in Jerusalem's ancient walled city. Thousands of Moslems shouted "God is great!" and chanted "Nasser, Nasser."

On the other side of the wall thousands of Jews were deep in prayer marking the start of the Jewish new year.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Education Department officials said that seven more Arkansas school districts have received $182,377 in federal funds to aid them in desegregation.

The funds were approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The funds are part of an emergency appropriation made by Congress earlier this year to help the school districts implement desegregation programs.

Six districts have already been approved to receive the funds.

The additional districts are: Saratoga, $7,600; Clarendon, $7,527; Elaine, $24,700; Wynne, $29,300; Helena, $68,500; Hot Springs, $24,250 and Lake Village, $20,500.

Gibbous Moon

When the moon is between half and full, either waxing or waning, it is gibbous. Gibbous comes from the Italian word meaning "humped."

ROME (AP) — For the first time in 12 years, there was no increase in the combined output of the world's farms and fisheries in 1969 while population continued to soar.

This standstill in over-all food production was due largely to reduced output in the developed countries "where surpluses rather than shortages are the problem," the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization—FAO reported Thursday.

In terms of food per person, this meant less to eat in almost all of the underdeveloped regions of the world, where population is shooting up by 2.7 per cent a year.

FAO's annual survey of the state of food and agriculture compared virtual stagnation of over-all world food production in 1969 to an increase of 4 per cent in 1968 and a 10-year average increase of almost 3 per cent.

Agriculture proper showed a very small gain in production last year, but fisheries output fell 3 per cent, FAO reported.

It was the first time since 1950 that world fish production suffered a setback. Output was down only 1 per cent in the developed countries but dropped by 5 per cent in under developed countries where it was needed most.

FAO reported that the situation was brightest in the Far East where the food problem in the past has been most serious. A 4 per cent increase in food production among the underdeveloped nations there was still 7 per cent below the 1968 gain, but exceeded the 10 year rate of 2.6 per cent.

Those figures exclude Communist China, on which no statistics were available, and Japan, which is considered a developed nation.

India, whose teeming population often faces severe hunger, again had a solid 5 per cent increase in food production, FAO said.

In Latin America a slight over-all increase of 1 per cent in food production, after another season of severe drought, again fell far behind the region's 2.9 per cent population increase.

Food production in the Middle East showed no increase. In Africa, excluding South Africa, production even fell by about 1 per cent.

Chief ABC Enforcement Officer Quits

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Earl M. Thomas, 30, saying his effectiveness would be impaired by rumors, resigned Wednesday as chief enforcement officer of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department.

The State Police is investigating allegations concerning the department, but has refused to disclose the source, nature or scope of the matters being investigated.

Thomas, in a letter of resignation to ABC Director Joe Gaspard, categorically denied any improper conduct on his own part. He said, however, he was resigning in the best interest of the department.

Gaspard, appointed in 1967 by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said he did not request the investigation, was satisfied with Thomas' performance, was confident Thomas was innocent, and wanted Thomas cleared of any innuendo.

He said, however, that he would accept the resignation. Thomas had been in the department about 18 months.

Newsmen learned Tuesday that the investigation was under way.

Col. Ralph Scott, director of the State Police, said a preliminary inquiry was completed last week and a memorandum opinion was forwarded to the governor's office.

Scott and Robert W. Faulkner, executive secretary to the governor, declined to discuss the case and would not reveal the contents of the preliminary report. Scott said further investigation was being made.

Rockefeller also declined comment, except to say he was aware of the probe.

The governor, Gaspard and Scott conferred earlier Wednesday at the Governor's Mansion. None would disclose details of the session. Gaspard said, however, that he was left with dis-

5 AF Cadets Resign Over Drug Use

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Air Force Academy cadets have resigned this school year rather than face court-martial boards on marijuana charges. Allegations of drug violations have been made against another 14 students.

Air Force officials at the Pentagon say the accusations have led to an investigation into the use of marijuana and LSD on the Colorado Springs, Colo., campus.

Until this year, 13 cadets had been dismissed for possession, use or sale of narcotics during the school's 15-year history. All violations occurred since 1967.

The Air Force confirmed the current investigation in response to queries by The Associated Press. However it stressed that "no academy-wide investigation of drug abuse is under way or planned."

The allegations of drug abuse against 14 cadets were made by their classmates last week.

This followed the resignation earlier in the month of five cadets who had been charged with drug violations.

The Air Force said three resigned the first week in September as a result of marijuana charges brought by the academy. Two were charged with possession of marijuana and the third with possession and bringing marijuana onto a military reservation.

Colorado Springs police arrested two other cadets Sept. 12 after a search of their car allegedly turned up marijuana. Police dropped the charges and turned the pair over to the academy. The two, both seniors, subsequently resigned rather than go before a court-martial board.

In a statement concerning the other 14, the Air Force said:

"The investigations are based on alleged reports brought to light last week through the cadet chain of command. There is no evidence at this time that all cases have substantive facts to them. This will be determined when the investigations are completed."

Use of marijuana and other drugs by members of the armed forces has increased each year since 1965. Defense Department officials contend the problem is a reflection of conditions in civilian life. A House Armed Services subcommittee investigating drug use in the military was told Wednesday that an estimated 30 per cent of all armed forces personnel have smoked marijuana at least once.

creation to take whatever action he considered appropriate.

Rockefeller did not suggest that Thomas resign, Gaspard said.

Prior to news of the investigation, there were reports that Gaspard had been asked to resign, but Gaspard had denied that he received any request for his resignation.

The director said that while he is confident that Thomas has performed ably as chief of enforcement, "I would have resigned if I had been in the position he was in."

Against Full Crew Law Repeal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A group called the Arkansas Committee for Railroad Safety has been organized to oppose proposed Initiated Act 1 which would repeal the state's full-crew law.

Carl N. Hope of Little Rock, a representative of the group, said Wednesday that a similar act was defeated in 1958 and the people of Arkansas made it clear then that "they wanted to keep these railroad safety laws."

The full-crew law, enacted in 1907, requires that freight trains with 25 or more cars must have a crew of six men. The railroads contend that a six-man crew is unnecessary for the safe operation of modern trains.

WR Demands Equal Time

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday that his office had contacted ABC Television and demanded equal time on the Dick Cavett Show to reply to criticism of Arkansas prison reform by former prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton.

Murton appeared on the late-night talk show last week and criticized the governor and his efforts toward prison reform.

Bill Conley, Rockefeller's press aide, said ABC indicated it was willing for the governor to appear if under provisions of the Federal Communications Commission, the other two candidates for governor would not have to be offered equal time.

Conley said ABC and Rockefeller attorneys were checking FCC regulations to see if they would require an offer of equal time to Democrat Dale Bumpers and American party candidate Walter Carruth.

Rockefeller said he would probably take Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver with him if arrangements for the appearance could be worked out.

The governor said he would permit Sarver to go alone if it is determined his appearance would require that Bumpers and Carruth be given equal time.

The governor said, however, that he felt he should be the man to appear because Murton's remarks were a "personal attack" on him.

The Farmers Union has contracted with Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff to provide heads of households with full-time training courses in basic education and prevocational training.

Officer Shot to Death at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A patrolman was shot to death today when a man he stopped for questioning fired a shotgun blast at point blank range, police reported.

Patrolman John Burke, 27, died of a neck wound.

His death was the 15th in the nation this year in apparently unprovoked attacks on police officers.

Police said Burke, a member of the city's K-9 squad, had gotten out of his station wagon in the heart of the city's main business district to question two Negro men.

Without warning, police said, one of the men drew a shotgun and fired. Burke's dog, Thor, was still in the wagon, tied to a post.

Police later issued a warrant for the arrest of Clarence D. Holmes, 22, of Atlantic City.

cancer of the cervix between 1965 and May 1970, said Dr. Louis Bush, a general practitioner from Baldwin, N.Y., who is chairman of the academy's cancer committee.

He reported his findings Tuesday to the annual convention of the academy, which is in the process of changing its name to the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Bush said cancer of the cervix, or neck of the womb, is the second leading cause of cancerous death among American women. Detected early, cervical cancer can be controlled in many cases, but because of tardy diagnosis some 10,000 will die from it this year, he said.

The tool of the five-year campaign was the Pap test, in which a smear is taken from the cervix, and a stain and microscopic examination discloses abnormalities in cells. A biopsy of actual tissue then can confirm whether cancer is present.

Until recently, Bush reported, many family doctors and far more of their patients remained unconvinced that this quick and simple procedure was reliable. The five-year project clearly establishes the Pap test as a reliable tool of cancer control, he said.

HIPPIE IS AS HIPPIE DOES

Dear Helen:

It seems that too many adults classify kids into two divisions: dirty hippie, and clean-cut teen.

I'd like to point out that many "hippies" are cleaner morally and physically than the "short-hairs." Of course there are the "wierdos, freaks, or crazies" who aren't really hippies, just as the "big operators" aren't really clean-cuts. They only look that way. If our elders would judge kids by how they act and what they believe in, not by looks, there would be a lot smaller generation gap.

A real hippie is a person who has a philosophy of love and peace. He's liable to flip the peace sign to a perfect stranger and say "Hang on," just because it's the friendly thing to do. He can have long hair, beads, a beard, OR he can look "straight," but he's a kind of idealist. He may smoke pot but he doesn't usually go the drug route all the way. He's quite often the brightest guy in the class—and the one who may go farthest in things that really matter.

Maybe he doesn't always get the Big C for Cleanliness, but that's his thing, sometimes a personal protest against people who put too much emphasis on TV commercial-type appearances and not enough on what's inside.

Whether bearded, haired, bell-bottomed, leathered or straight, our appearance or odor do not change our mentality. (Consider Samson—it wasn't until he got his long hair cut that he became a pansy.)

We're only gross-outs if we act that way. I wish adults would stop generalizing and start talking to us. You'd be surprised how well we communicate with the few who do! —PEACE - ON Dear Peace:

I'll drink to that! For a long time now I've noticed the so-called "hippie" types communicate best in class

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Medical Center," CBS's doctor show, concentrates on the cases of Dr. Joe Gannon, a dedicated physician equally skilled in surgery, internal medicine and psychiatry.

In the Wednesday night episode, Gannon was involved in salvaging a 16-year-old girl addicted to heroin. The program suggested that the girl was driven to the needle by excessive demands of her parents.

The story was built around a helpful in directing me around campus! When I visit a new school and get lost (as I usually do) it's almost always a "long-hair" or bearded one who sees my predicament and straightens me out. —H.

I know you don't use much poetry, but this, I think, is sorta special—a friend wrote it and I think it shows the side of a teenage girl we sometimes forget exists.

A newborn life just brought into the world,
I must be a girl: I'm dressed in pink!
Gurgled syllables answered by love,
A seed just planted in the ground.

A sunburned, freckle-faced girl
Dressed in dungarees and a baseball cap, I shout,
"Strike Three, Hey Dad, it's your turn at bat!"

This seed has grown its roots and is stemming up toward the sky.
Nail polish, curlers, and teen magazines are
The essential elements in my existence.
"Hey, Mom, guess who's going to the prom?"
A bud appears: Shy, foretelling beauty.
Walking down the aisle, I see the man I love,
His eyes reach out to welcome me.

Because of him, I am a woman.
A red rose, in full bloom, smiles confidently at the world.

Dear Mary:

professor's daughter who was constantly pushed for high grades. Gannon, played tensely and soberly by Chad Everett, spotted the symptoms. Much time was given to graphic descriptions of the young drug scene, matched by efforts to persuade a stubborn father who wanted to blame her friends for the habit.

The program's prescription for recovery was group therapy with other young people attempting to end their addiction.

It was a well-constructed, interesting story but the solutions and diagnosis may have been a little pat.

"The Courtship of Eddie's Father," moving into its second ABC season, can best be described as a sweet show. There has never been in the real world such a splendid, tender, understanding father-son relationship. Bill Bixby as the parent and Brandon Cruz as the boy work together beautifully. In fact, they save the whole thing from being cloyingly sugary.

In the Wednesday night episode, Eddie was being talked into running away from home with a girl playmate who was upset because her father, also a widower, was planning to remarry.

Eddie didn't really want to run away, so his wise, perceptive father persuaded the girl's father to handle his remarriage plans better and even got the child to have a change of heart about her future stepmother. It is not very realistic but it is a well-intentioned little show.

Shortly thereafter on CBS appears another situation comedy pegged on parent-child relationships—"The Governor and J. J.," also in its second season. Its principals are adults—Dan Dailey, the 50-ish governor of an unidentified state, and Julie Sommars, his 20-ish daughter.

In the last installment, an old friend of the governor turned up, a veteran ladykiller who immediately made a play for J. J. The governor blew up. J.J. handled the middle-aged wolf easily, the situation was resolved and even some antipollution propaganda was adroitly inserted.

The governor's old friend was influential in a chemical company that was destroying a river, so the company promised to clean things up. It would be nice if life sometimes mirrored television.

Malvern Is Next Foe of Bobcats

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Entering the game this Friday, the Hope Bobcats are 3-1 and the Malvern Leopards are 1-3. But don't let the won-lost record fool you.

Malvern has played three of the top six teams in the state, losing to Hot Springs 27-14, Pine Bluff 28-8, and Little Rock Catholic 50-7, while clobbering Crossett, 55-7.

The Leopards are one of the AAA pre-season picks and with the type of team they really have, one can see why.

Running mostly the wishbone, with the wing T and pro offensive formations available, the Leopards are led by quarterback Tom McLure, a 155 pound senior with good experience. He has one of the best running backs in the state in Roy McEmore, to give the ball to for almost any reasonable yardage.

Joe Smith and Ervin Nichols are the other two backs, both with plenty of experience. They can also catch the ball which helps the offensive attack even more.

In the line is center Kim Laslos, guards James Robinson and Doug Shuffield, and tackles Ronnie Jones and James Gray. Counting the ends, Ronnie Brannon and John Wilks the line weighs an average of about 169 pounds.

Defensively the Leopards appear to have one of the most solid units in the district, led by linebackers Ricky Starks and Jack Roseberry. Monster man is David Ross, a fairly good sized 160 pounder.

The guards are Allen Petroy and Joe Tatum, both who are big and quick, weighing around 200 pounds. Beside them are defensive tackles Malcolm Mundy and David Reeves with another partner in linebacker Ronnie Hall.

The secondary consists of halfbacks John Wilks and Mike Reynolds, and safety Tom McLure. All three weigh around 150 pounds and are very good pass defenders.

Malvern mostly uses a 5-3 defense and changes to a 6-5 on the go-line. On punt returns they like to run up the middle and usually have pretty good success.

Both teams will be up for this game and you can bet it will be a dandy to the finish.

The Bobkittens have an open schedule tonight, but will resume their schedule next Thursday, at home against Camden.

Seeds Almost Holding Own in Tennis Play

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The seeds were mostly holding their own today as Pacific Coast international Open tennis championship play went into its sixth day at the Berkeley Tennis Club and the Golden Gateway courts in San Francisco.

The upset Wednesday was in men's singles, where 12th-seeded Jaime Filol of Chile defeated eighth-seeded Owen Davidson of Australia, 6-4, 6-4.

There was a comparable variance on the distaff side where eighth-seeded Helen Gourlay of Australia took a hard-earned 7-6, 6-2, 6-2 contest from sixth-seeded Pauli Hogan of La Jolla, Calif.

Top woman seed Billie Jean King of Berkeley disposed of Lora Gamble of Palo Alto, Calif., 6-2, 6-3, while on the men's court top seed Cliff Richey of San Antonio, Texas, was beating the Male of South Africa, 6-2, 6-2.

Thinks Hope Should Beat Malvern

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — For the second week in a row, the North Little Rock Wildcats will train their sights on a high-flying opponent.

Last week, the Wildcats upset then top-ranked Little Rock Hall 13-0.

This week, North Little Rock meets second-ranked El Dorado.

North Little Rock, ranked No. 6, has lost only to top-ranked Jonesboro. El Dorado is unbeaten in three starts and the only team in Class AAAA with an unblemished record.

North Little Rock must get another excellent performance from its defense if the Wildcats are to score two upsets in a row.

El Dorado's attack is built around 215-pound tailback Anthony Jones, who was instrumental in the Wildcats' earlier victory over Fort Smith Northside.

Jones could be the difference. EL DORADO 20, NORTH LITTLE ROCK 14.

Top-ranked Jonesboro meets an improving Little Rock Parkview team at Little Rock Friday night in what may be a major test for the Hurricane.

Jonesboro, a Class AAA-East representative, is unbeaten and has permitted only one touchdown in four games. Parkview, a member of Class AAA-West, blanked Springdale last week and battled a stout Hot Springs team to the wire.

JONESBORO 10, LR PARKVIEW 7.

Rogers and Subiaco meet Friday night at Rogers in a game that may go a long way toward deciding the title in Region 1AA.

Subiaco is unbeaten and Rogers has won three in a row since losing its opener to Springdale, a Class AAA team. ROGERS 21, SUBIACO 14.

Last week's percentage was .684. Here are other predictions involving AAAA, AAA and AA teams:

Porker Frosh Play Tonight at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas and Southern Methodist's freshmen football teams open their seasons here tonight with the SMU Colts trying to snap a two-game winning streak by the Shoats.

Arkansas won 20-13 last year and holds a 6-4-2 advantage in the series.

Pete Tolley, a Dallas, Tex., product, will quarterback the Shoats. His running backs will be Dicky Morton of Dallas and Wayne Miles of Magnolia. The Shoats' defense will face highly touted SMU quarterback Casey Otey, who completed 265 of 515 passes for 3,672 yards and 35 touchdowns during his career at Houston, Calif.

Malvern, Arkansas. The Busch East Club and the Texarkana East Club are co-hosts for the tournament.

PITCHING — Bill Hands, Cubs, tossed a seven-inning Chicago whiffed the New York Mets 2-0, pushing the Cubs into a second-place East tie.

BATTING — Paul Ratliff, Twins, stroked a pinch three-run homer in the ninth inning, lifting Minnesota to a 6-4 triumph over Kansas City.

McNally, who had been bothered by elbow soreness in a previous start, went the distance without duress as the Orioles tied the club record with their 10th consecutive victory and extended Washington's losing streak to 13 games.

He struck out nine while moving alongside teammate Mike Cuellar and Minnesota's Jim Perry, the other 24-game winners in the majors. Merv Rettenmund's two-run single and a two-run triple by Brooks Robinson broke the game open in the seventh inning.

Cuellar will face Perry in the Orioles-Twins opener Saturday, with McNally opposing Minnesota southpaw Tom Hall in the second game and 20-game winner Jim Palmer going for the Orioles against Blyleven Monday.

McNally, who has won 10 games in half a season with the Twins, limited Kansas City to five hits and one earned run, but trailed 4-1 when he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Twins won it in the ninth with a four-run rally capped by pinch hitter Paul Ratliff's three-run homer.

"That job today made up my mind," Twins' Manager Bill Rigney said in announcing that Blyleven would get a shot at the Orioles.

Peterson, 20-11, defied the Fenway jinx for seven innings, gave up a two-run homer by rookie Luis Alvarado in the eighth and got ninth-inning help from reliever Lindy McDaniel. It was his first victory ever at Boston.

The Red Sox' Carl Yastrzemski, gunning for a fourth AL batting title, went 1-for-4 to finish his season with a .329 average. Runnerup Alex Johnson of California was 1-for-3 against the White Sox and remained at .327 with one game to play.

Lloyd Allen picked up his first major league victory for the Angels with clutch relief help from Dave Laroche in the eighth.

Skip Lockwood and reliever Ken Sanders, aided by five double plays, weathered 11 Oakland hits to pitch the Brewers past the A's.

Elliott Maddox' run-scoring double in the eighth enabled the Tigers to withstand successive ninth-inning homers by Cleveland's Vada Pinson and Duke Sims.

Ellender in Praise of the Offense

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State Coach Bennie Ellender praised his offensive unit's efforts following practice Wednesday, but said the defensive unit still had a long way to go in preparing for Saturday night's game against The Citadel.

"I thought our offensive people had a good practice and I was pleased with the throwing of our quarterbacks and the running of our defensive backs," said Ellender. "But the defensive workout was a little disappointing and I'm concerned about these people learning their assignments in the next day or so."

Tailback Calvin Harrell returned to the practice field Wednesday after missing Tuesday's practice session.

Second Place to Be Settled Tonight

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National League East battle—for the No. 2 spot—will be settled tonight when the New York Mets and Chicago Cubs meet while in Philadelphia the surprising Montreal Expos can avoid a basement finish with a victory as the regular season comes to a close.

Bill Hands stifled the Mets on seven hits Wednesday as the Cubs moved into a second place tie with their 2-0 triumph, settling up a confrontation between Chicago's 21-game winner Ferguson Jenkins facing Jim McAndrew, 10-13.

Second place is worth approximately $1,000 per man while the losing team will pick up about $300 apiece. The East champion Pirates have a five-game lead as they get ready for Saturday's opening playoff game against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Expos exploded for four third inning runs to stop Philadelphia 5-4 and move one-half game ahead of the Phillies into fifth place.

Carl Morton, Montreal's rookie right-hander will be on the mound today trying to push the Phils into the cellar. The youngster has taken 18 games this season and is a prime candidate for NL Rookie of the Year honors.

In other NL action, Houston edged San Francisco 4-3, St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh 4-3 and San Diego topped Los Angeles 2-1. Cincinnati and Atlanta were not scheduled.

In the American League, Baltimore topped Washington 6-2, New York nipped Boston 4-3, Detroit nudged Cleveland 4-3, Minnesota downed Kansas City 6-4, California trimmed Chicago 5-1 and Milwaukee beat Oakland 4-1.

The Cubs snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth inning as Mets' starter Nolan Ryan walked four Cubs for a run and Chicago added a tally in the seventh on Tommy Davis' run-scoring double.

The Expos trailed 3-1 in the third, when with two out, Jim Gosger drove in a run with a single, John Bateman followed with a two-run hit and Bobby Wine capped the inning by driving in Bateman with a triple.

In the West, Houston clinched fourth place, beating the Giants on John Edwards' run-scoring single with one out in the ninth off reliever Don McMahon. Larry Dierker, 16-12, was the Astros winner.

Juan Marichal went the first eight innings for San Francisco. Bobby Bonds ripped his 26th homer for the Giants.

The Dodgers missed a chance to clinch second in the West as the Padres snapped a three-game losing string. Los Angeles leads the Giants by one-half game.

Pat Dobson, 15-16, tossed a seven-hitter as the Padres ended a three-game losing string getting a run-scoring single from Chris Cannizzaro and a sacrifice fly by Ollie Brown.

Lou Brock's run-scoring single in the ninth after Jose Cardenal had powered a tying homer, gave the Cards their victory, snapping Pittsburgh's five-game winning streak.

The Pirates had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the inning on a run-producing single by John Jeter. Matty Alou stroked three Pirate hits, giving him 201 for the season.

Would Like a State, Porker Grid Game

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday that he favored a football matchup between the University of Arkansas Razorbacks and the Arkansas State University Indians.

"Many states do have matches with each other and I'm all for it," Rockefeller told Arkansas State students when he was asked whether he supported the idea of a game between the two state universities.

He also offered some advice to the Indians, suggesting that they go all out to score early against the Razorbacks, who have had difficulty in the early going in their first two games this year.

"If you can't win the game in the first quarter against the Razorbacks, I don't know what's what," the governor said.

Claudine Cros Rubin, who helped the French beat the United States by one stroke in the first competition in 1964, fired a 70 Wednesday and Brigitte Varangot followed with a 71 for a 141 total.

Cynthia Hill of St. Petersburg, Fla., had a 72 for the only other sub-par round over the 6,221-yard, par 73 Club de Campo course. Jane Bastanchury of Whittier, Calif., matched par to give the American girls a 145 total.

The 72-hole tourney, with 22 teams entered, runs through Saturday.

Peerless Prognosticator

Egad, friends, your favorite forecaster has done it again—um-kumph!

Yes, dear readers, once more The Hoople System has given you the Upset of the Year—Colorado over Penn State—har-rumph!

Jove! 'Twas indeed an achievement of monumental proportions—kaff-kaff! And lest you forget, the Colorado triumph was only one of several startling selections I gave you last week on a difficult card which held us to a .750 average, with 39 correct choices, 13 misses and 3 ties!

Before moving on to this week's predictions, I wish to thank you one and all for the deluge of congratulatory messages which poured in to Hoople Manor when word of my amazing forecast spread across the nation.

A diligent search of the jillions of messages has failed to turn up a single one from any of my erstwhile bookmaker friends. Could be they lost their shirts to the loyal followers of the Hoople Forecasts—heh-heh!

This week we have not one but three Hoople five-star specials for you! Watch for Oregon State to topple unbeaten but once tied Southern California, Minnesota to defeat Nebraska (whose only blemish this season is a tie with the Trojans), and Missouri to resume its winning ways by upsetting Oklahoma State.

In other top-rated contests on Saturday, Mississippi will take the measure of Alabama, 35-22, Texas will vanquish UCLA, 42-28, Stanford will ice Purdue, 33-23, and the big lads from Ohio State and Notre Dame will continue to roll by blasting Duke and Michigan State respectively. I predict a 44-7 triumph for the Buckeyes and a 42-14 win for the Fighting Irish—har-rumph!

Managerial Changes Are in Making

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Preston Gomez and Harry Walker are in, but Mayo Smith and John McNamara may be out as managers as the major league baseball regular season ends today.

Gomez and Walker were rehired Wednesday as managers of the San Diego Padres and the Houston Astros, respectively, ending speculation that they might not return.

In contrast, the future of Smith at Detroit and McNamara at Oakland is clouded. A Detroit official said a press conference is likely to be held Friday. Most observers feel the Tigers will announce then that Billy Martin, former Minnesota manager, will be named to replace Smith.

Charles O. Finley, Oakland owner, has declined to confirm or deny reports that he will not re-hire McNamara as manager of the A's.

Walker and his entire coaching staff were given one-year contracts for the 1971 season. Gomez and his coaching staff similarly received new one year contracts.

Spec Richardson, general manager of the Astros said, "In no way can I blame Walker and his staff for our sore-arm pitching. We looked for additional pitching and couldn't find it. So we are as much to blame."

"I'm delighted and so is my staff," Walker commented. "One of the reasons I would have felt bad if I had not been coming back is I feel the club is on the verge of really moving up."

"There was never a doubt in my mind about the job," Gomez declared after Eddie Leishman, general manager of the Padres, announced that Gomez had been retained as manager.

"You never know in baseball, though," Gomez added. "You might be hired for one year and be gone in one month."

Elsewhere, Ken Boyer and Barney Schultz were named batting coach and pitching coach, respectively, for the St. Louis Cardinals.

They replaced Dick Sisler and Billy Muffett who were dismissed on Tuesday when Red Schoendienst was re-hired as Cardinal manager.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was not available for comment.

Kuhn, American League President Joe Cronin and National League President Chub Feeney met in New York, but a Kuhn aide said the meeting involved World Series plans rather than any possible strike by the umpires.

The Old Boy Himself

Broyles Says Practice Sluggish
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked out in pads Wednesday with the offensive unit having what Coach Frank Broyles termed a "sluggish practice."

"They didn't have too good a practice today," Broyles said. Broyles said captains for Saturday's game at TCU would be quarterback Bill Montgomery, tight end Pat Morrison, middle linebacker Mike Boschetti and defensive tackle Dick Bumpas.

Broyles said he "didn't know" if defensive tackle John Turner would be able to play in Saturday's game. Turner suffered a twisted knee during Tuesday's practice.

Umpires of Baseball May Strike

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There's a chance the major league umpires could call a strike against their employers Friday on the eve of the playoffs.

"I don't know what's going to happen, but we're going to ask for more money," Augie Donatelli, a National League umpire and a director of the Major League Umpires Association, said Wednesday night.

More money, said Donatelli, means a minimum of $5,000 for each man who works the playoffs and $10,000 apiece for those assigned the World Series. Last year the umpires got $2,500 for the playoffs and $6,500 for the World Series.

Donatelli said the Umpires Association and its attorney, John Reynolds Jr., would meet Friday in Chicago and that the money situation would be discussed and voted on at that time. The playoffs open Saturday.

Donatelli would not predict what action would stem from the meeting. One possibility is a boycott. Reynolds said in Chicago a boycott is conceivable.

Other umpires contacted at various major league cities Wednesday night either said they had not heard about any boycott or they declined comment.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was not available for comment.

Kuhn, American League President Joe Cronin and National League President Chub Feeney met in New York, but a Kuhn aide said the meeting involved World Series plans rather than any possible strike by the umpires.

In all forms of Stayman, the response of two in any suit but clubs is a weakness bid. It says, "Partner, we don't have a game and my hand is unsuitable for no-trump. If you have a maximum no-trump and like my suit, you may try raising me to three, but in all other instances I want you to pass."

South has one of those hands. He has no interest in game and he doesn't like the idea of letting his partner struggle with one no-trump, or almost anything else that is modern, he responds two spades. South has 17 points for his no-trump but he doesn't like spades and 10 of his points are in queens and jacks. He passes, just as he should.

There isn't much to the play at two spades. West makes his normal opening lead of the jack of clubs and the defense winds up taking one spade, two hearts, a diamond and a club, which isn't quite enough to beat two spades.

One no-trump would be down one or two tricks, provided West didn't take the first spade trick. So, the major suit sign-off proved very successful.

The Jacoby Transfer Bid may be added to JACOBY MODERN. It is a fine bid and will be discussed in a few weeks. Playing the Jacoby Transfer, South would have responded two hearts and North would proceed to two spades.

North would be unhappy when South passed at two spades but he would have been very happy when he saw the dummy. No defense would beat two spades played by North and a diamond or club opening by East would give declarer an overtrick.

Overtricks don't mean much in rubber bridge. However, once in awhile the trick gained by letting the no-trump hand play the suit will be the contract trick.

Single Blood Pressure Reading Tells Little

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Q—My blood pressure varies all over the map. My doctor says the reason for the variation is emotional. Is it possible that I am upset emotionally subconsciously? I'm not "mad" at anyone, hate no one, am not overly excitable, not nervous, not "afraid" of a heart problem.

A—It helps to understand what determines the level of blood pressure. The pressure in the arteries is dependent upon two factors, how much blood the heart pumps into the arteries each minute and the capacity of the arterial tree or artery network receiving the blood. If the arterial network remains the same size, like a plumbing system of pipes, the pressure will rise whenever the heart pumps more blood. If the amount of blood being pumped by the heart remains the same but the arterial tree is decreased in size the pressure in the arteries goes up.

The arteries can contract under the influence of various nerve reflexes and chemicals. This may occur suddenly, like a reflex, and cause a sudden rise in blood pressure. The heart can change the amount of blood it pumps almost instantaneously. The sudden change in heart rate is an indication of this.

Any emotion or stress may cause changes in the action of the heart to raise blood pressure. In some people the arteries seem to contract in a reflex manner more readily than in others.

I have examined many young healthy men in the Air Force flying crews who had a reflex response to having their blood pressure taken. The tension associated with the examination caused them to have a sudden sharp rise in their blood pressure. After several examinations this to one spade because with four hearts your partner can raise hearts with four spades he can bid one spade.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid one heart and your partner raises you to two hearts. What do you do now?

Bradshaw Is Blaming Self for Defeat

By TOM BRILEY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw, the golden-haired rookie who quickly captured the fancy of football fans, has wasted little time in adding to his leadership—he takes responsibility for defeat.

"I take complete blame for it," Bradshaw said Wednesday night as he sat at home, watching game films and playing with his St. Bernard puppy.

Bradshaw, the No. 1 draft pick from Louisiana Tech, took over as the starting quarterback and led the Pittsburgh Steelers to four straight exhibition victories. Then they lost their first two regular season games.

"I was a little too nervous, and so worried," he said. "I hadn't realized that I was a rookie, that I had so much to learn."

"In the Houston game, I didn't keep my confidence and cool. In the Denver game, I started pressuring."

In the second half of Sunday's loss to Denver, coach Chuck Noll gave him a "good pep talk on the sidelines. I started setting up and throwing the football like I know I can."

"I think the biggest difference is that I realize it's for real. It put a difference perspective on the whole game."

Bradshaw, who has completed 17 of 42 attempts with a pair of interceptions, doesn't go overboard with his regained confidence: "I'm not going to say I have all of it, but a lot of it."

Bradshaw, who will start against the Browns in Cleveland Saturday night, echoed Noll in saying "I think this team can really go."

The coach, not given to flowery speech, said he is "real happy" with Bradshaw.

"I think he has fine talent. I think he has leadership qualities."

Old Charlie Just Crossed Them Up

MIAMI (AP) — Charlie Tate's most persistent tormentors among University of Miami football followers griped that he seldom did anything exciting as head coach.

Old Charlie crossed them up Wednesday.

The pot-bellied character, called "Jolly Cholly" in happier times, snocked every one from taxicab drivers to quarterbacks by quitting as football coach-athletic director in midstream 1970.

The Hurricane players got the word on Tate minutes before an Orange Bowl workout. When the head coach's whistle was blown, it was done by career Miami assistant coach Walt Kichefski.

The 54-year-old Kichefski, a fixture at the school since his freshman year of 1936, was appointed by University President Henry King Stanford to serve on an interim basis in both of Tate's positions through Dec. 31. It was Stanford who received the resignation. He said, "It is a surprise and a shock."

"I think people outside the university put on pressure," said 244-pound Hurricane tackle Dick Trower. "He wouldn't just up and quit. There's got to be something else."

The pressure was evident as Tate entered the final season of a seven-year contract. His overall record is 34-27-2 with two bowl teams, but a 4-6 campaign in 1969 ignited rumors that it was a put out or get out season for Charlie in 1970.

Tate opened with a 30-14 victory over William and Mary, but was whipped by Georgia Tech 31-21 last Saturday at Atlanta. Miami is now preparing to play winless Maryland Friday night in the Orange Bowl without him.

When Stanford was first advised of Tate's wishes on Tuesday, he asked the coach to "sleep on it."

Tate slept on it. He quit Wednesday.

The son of a former Jacksonville railroad man has been in coaching for a quarter of a century. He was not available to talk about his future.

"It's like having your father die suddenly," said quarterback David Teal. "I can't believe he quit on us. We never quit on him. I'm shocked."

Tate expressed privately many times that the hungry Miami football fans baffled him. He complained about the lack of a true college atmosphere and was puzzled by his student body.

MARY NELL WILLIAMS

LINDA K. REECE

MAGNOLIA—Two Hope coeds will be listed in the 1970-71 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," according to Dr. Donald Haefner, vice president for student affairs.

The local women are among 30 students chosen from the junior and senior classes by faculty and campus organizations on the basis of scholarship, leadership, personality and service to the college.

They are Linda Kay Reece, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Reece of Route 2, a senior English major at Southern State; and Mary Nell Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Williams of 108 North Pine St. in Hope, senior medical technology major.

TIMOTHY T. ROSS

MAGNOLIA. — Timothy Thomas Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison E. Ross of Rt. 1 Hope, has been elected president of Childs Hall, men's residence at Southern State College.

As a dormitory officer, Ross will serve on the Childs Hall Council and will assist in planning activities in which Childs Hall residents participate during the coming year.

A 1969 graduate of Hope High School, Ross is a sophomore majoring in agriculture at Southern State.

Could Be the Last Race for Gurney

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — This Sunday's Trans-American sedan race at Riverside International Raceway could be the last as a driver for Dan Gurney, considered by many experts to be America's finest ever.

Gurney planned to wind up his career in the Rex Mays 300-mile event for championship cars at Riverside Dec. 6, but that race was canceled Wednesday.

"I won't say this will be my last race, but then again I have no plans for any others at moment," said the 39-year-old Gurney, the only driver in the world to have won races in the four major types of events: Formula One, USAC, Can-Am and NASCAR.

Big Names Are Missing at Azalea Meet

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Most of golf's big names were missing along with the azalea blossoms as the 22nd annual Azalea Open Golf Tournament opened today with defending champion Dale Douglass heading the field.

In the past the tournament has been held in the spring, but in recent years has conflicted with other tournaments.

The sponsoring Wilmington Athletic Association was given a more attractive fall date by the PGA this year and the purse was boosted from $35,000 to $60,000. The winner will receive $12,000.

Other former Azalea Open winners entered include three-time champion Jerry Barber, Art Wall, Dave Marr, Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell, Steve Reid, Al Bessellink and Randy Glover.

Entries include Lionel Hebert, Joe Campbell, Tommy Bolt, Al Bolding, Pete Brown and LaBron Harris.

The par 71 Cape Fear Country Club course is host to the event.

Incentive to Do Better Each Week

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University Coach Bennie Ellender said Wednesday that his team's number one ranking in The Associated Press small college football poll was "a great incentive to do better each week."

This was the second week that the Indians had occupied the top spot in the poll of sports writers and sports broadcasters.

"I'm real pleased to hear that we're still number one," said Ellender. "We had a tough game last week at Southeast Louisiana and we're going to have another tough one against The Citadel this week."

Ellender said the number one ranking had different effects on various members of the team.

"It tends to hinder some of the younger boys," he said. "Some of them might tend to think they are better than what they really are. But to the older and more experienced boys, I think it's a lift."

This is the first year that ASU has been ranked first. In six of the last eight years the Indians have been ranked in the AP poll. Last year they started the season ranked fifth and finished seventh after a 7-1-1 season.

No poll was taken after the Tribe's 29-21 victory over Drake in the Pecan Bowl.

"Our players are excited over the results as this position is new to us," said Ellender.

Last season the Indians won their second straight Southland Conference championship with a 8-1-1 record for the year, including the victory over Drake in the Pecan Bowl.

"We also realize that this ranking will mean some trouble for us," Ellender said. "Every one will be trying to knock us off each week. I'm also sure that more emphasis will be placed on our games than would have been had we not been ranked first."

Ellender said the ranking probably would not change his preparation for Saturday's game against The Citadel.

"The incentive is already there because we feel this is a very important game," said Ellender. He added the team would be "up" for the Citadel game.

"We'll just be trying to do our best each week and whatever becomes of it will just be frosting on the cake," Ellender said.

SPORT SHORTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC-TV announced Wednesday that for the first time in history the World Series will be broadcast in the Chinese language. The series, beginning Oct. 10, will be transmitted by the China Television Co. via delayed videotape in color to Taiwan.

BOSTON (AP) — John Charles and Larry Carwell, the two veteran defensive backs who were deactivated by the Boston Patriots just before their National Football League opener Sept. 20, have both now signed their 1970 contracts.

Charles agreed to terms Wednesday, just one day after Carwell had come into the fold.

Humiliation Was Worst Feeling Nasser Had Next to Frustration

By MILES COPELAND
Written for
The Associated Press
LONDON (AP) — "Israel is a country of two million people," the late President Nasser told me recently, "and we are a country of 30 million."

"For Israel to be able to fly its airplanes over Cairo any time it wants is as humiliating to me as it would be to you if the Cubans were able to fly over Washington and your armed forces were powerless to stop them."

Humiliation. This was the feeling which was particularly painful to Nasser, and up to the day of his death it was the one most on his mind.

Next to frustration, that is. In September 1969, Israeli raiders struck deep into Egyptian territory and for an encore kidnapped a radar base. A group of senior Egyptian army officers reacted by partly curbing Nasser's power, at least to the extent of inducing him to cancel a number of dismissals, and to agree in the future to accept their "advice" on promotions, assignments and transfers.

At the same time Nasser suffered a heart attack then described as a severe case of influenza. His doctors advised him that his life expectancy would be short unless he agreed to cut down his working day from the usual 14 hours to a reasonable four or five.

Since then Nasser had been trying to operate in a sort of chairman of the board capacity. To one whose style was tactics rather than strategy, the experience must have been terribly frustrating.

One of his closest "subordinates" told me a month ago, "The boss feels very uncomfortable in delegating to us, and he's right."

By the time of the peace initiative by U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, it appeared that Nasser had simply begun to let things slide.

The world will never know how Nasser really felt about the Rogers initiative, or the possibility of peace with Israel.

To begin with, back in 1953-54, he needed Israel. With no strong feelings about Israel itself, he needed Israel as a common enemy against which to unite the Arabs.

If he could comfortably play the Americans and the Russians off against one another as merely the spokesman for Egypt, how much more effective he would be as a spokesman for the whole Arab world.

Later, after two humiliating defeats, he developed a genuine feeling of hostility toward Israel. But then he saw the two most loudly anti-Israel countries, Syria and Iraq, virtually make peace with Israel. They made it clear by their actions that they had no intention of fighting Israel and were more interested in squabbling with each other.

Meanwhile, they accused Egypt, which had been doing all the fighting, of pacifist inclinations.

Finally, Nasser saw various Palestinian organizations behaving so self-destructively that he began to suspect that some of them were being backed by the Israelis.

Some of Nasser's lieutenants seemed to be genuinely convinced that the Israelis were behind the recent airliner hijackings. To them the argument was not without a certain crazy logic since the Israelis were the only beneficiaries of the hostile world reaction to the terrorists.

We cannot know how Nasser really felt about all this, but given his ambition to go down as a great historical figure, it is easy to guess.

What did Nasser want?

First, like any good politician, he wanted to stay in power.

Second, he wanted to use his power for the benefit of Egypt primarily, and then the saw that without massive aid, which could only come from the United States, he couldn't possibly achieve a growth rate to keep up with his country's birth rate, one of the highest in the world.

"With all the help in sight," he once told me, "and with all our best plans coming out perfectly, all I can hope for is to keep Egypt from slipping backwards." This was when, according to American economic exports, Egypt needed some $1 billion a year in hard currency, and the U.S. State Department was offering Nasser $40 million.

"If Nasser would only stick to Egypt and leave the rest of the Arab world alone," former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles used to say, "we would give him all the aid he wants."

But Nasser was programmed to observe U.S. actions, not words. The United States was then giving him aid and showing him deference to the extent to which he was influential throughout the Arab world and manifested a capability of making a nuisance of himself. When his behavior was not to our liking, we rewarded him. When he did as we wished, we forgot him.

"It seems to me," a senior associate told Dulles, "we should give Nasser credit for being at least as intelligent as Pavlov's dog." And he was. Nasser began to hint that he might turn to the Soviets, and we raised our offer to $100 million. Then, being somewhat smarter than Pavlov's dog, he began to sharpen his hints and actually to take some Soviet aid.

The rest is history. Everyone knows how Secretary Dulles withdrew his offer of aid for the Aswan Dam and how Nasser immediately got what he needed from the Russians. What is not generally known is that once the U.S. government observed Nasser's new chumminess with the Soviets, it jumped right into the competition and began to offer greater amounts of aid than ever before.

Lebanese President Camille Chamoun was quick to spot the lesson. "Our difficulty in getting aid from the United States," he once told me, "is that we aren't very good at being anti-American. Perhaps I can get President Nasser to show me how," he said facetiously. Chamoun knew, as any of Nasser's closest friends knew, that the Egyptian leader was never seriously anti-American, not anyhow until the U.S. government dropped out of the competition and became unreservedly pro-Israel.

Nursing Home Film Held Up by Rep. Pryor

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Housing George Romney has temporarily held up distribution of a HUD-produced film on nursing homes which was branded misleading by a congressional critic of the nursing home industry.

Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Wednesday that Romney had promised him in a telephone conversation that the secretary's office would investigate the eight-minute film about the Federal Housing Administration's nursing home program.

HUD officials screened the film for Pryor at his request Tuesday and defended the production when he raised objections.

In a letter sent to Romney after the screening, Pryor said in part:

"The film made no mention of either the costs of the nursing homes shown, which are among the most expensive in the country, or that many—if not most—accept only private patients.

"The impression created by this film is (1) that these homes are representative of most nursing homes in the country, (2) that inside one of these FHA homes, excellent medical care would be a certainty, and (3) that the nursing home industry is a field in which problems are fast fading into the past. This is an extremely misleading picture of the nursing home industry today."

Pryor has been seeking funds for a congressional investigation of the nursing home industry.

The film shows nursing home facilities financed by FHA-insured mortgages and includes the favorable comments of patients on the care they receive. It does not include details on mortgage insurance, which is the essence of the FHA program.

"Why, when this program is concerned only with buildings, is the film text made up largely of elderly patients providing descriptions of the quality of care they receive inside these homes?" Pryor asked Romney.

He raised many of the same points in discussion with other HUD officials at the screening. They responded they thought the film made clear it was talking about only the 700 nursing homes built with HUD financial help and not the rest of the nation's 24,000 such institutions.

Pryor said the average elderly person seeing the film would get the impression such care and facilities were typical of nursing homes. He noted that HUD controls only building standards of nursing homes it aids. State agencies and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare supervise other facets of nursing home operation.

HUD spokesman Laurence Casson said the film, which cost $11,000 to produce, had not yet gone to general distribution.

HUD officials said the American Nursing Home Association, a group of profit-making operators, praised the film and requested a copy of the film to show at its national convention.

Wants State to Look to Tourism

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial nominee Dale Bumpers told the Arkansas Travel Council Wednesday that the state should look to tourism rather than to attracting out-of-state industry as the primary means of increasing its per capita income.

Bumpers said tourism "is probably the main direction the state should take economically."

He said the state should look to tourism because tourists "do not demand a lot from us in the way of services. They demand practically nothing from this state except a decent highway to travel."

He suggested that financing similar to Act 9 bonds might be worked out for any recreational project that "has the feasibility to pay back the bonds."

Bumpers also said that the out-of-state industry that is solicited "must be nonpolluting industry."

Young American Homes Makes Promotions

Young American Homes of Hope, Arkansas has recently made several new appointments and promotions. J.R. Bennett, Executive Vice President in charge of all Manufacturing of Mid-American Housing, parent corporation of Young American, announced the following promotions.

Shellie K. Ivey has been appointed general manager of the Hope Division of Young American Homes. He was formerly production manager.

Dave Felder, zone manager, has been promoted to sales manager. Mike Hopper, formerly dispatcher was promoted to zone manager.

Wesley "Dub" Richardson was promoted from final inspector to manager of manufacturing. Harold Pickett joined the company as dispatcher.

Bennett explained that Mid-America Housing is growing so rapidly that its needs are constantly expanding. "We are pleased to be able to promote men on our staff and are gratified to have such capable, progressive people to work with."

Young American Homes in Hope, produces the popular Young American, a top-line home. The Young American has been received with such enthusiasm that production is constantly increasing. This reception is partly due to the fact that the Young American is available in a wide selection of attractive decors and floor plans.

Bennett also announced that Mid-America Housing, Inc., is presently researching locations for a fourth mobile home manufacturing plant. "We at Mid-America have great confidence in the continued success of the mobile home industry, and a fourth plant should only help to increase our surge toward the top of this burgeoning industry."

Some 1,000 guests were on the red walls of the Forbidden City, the ancient palace grounds flanking the square. Among them was Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state who has set up an exile government in Peking.

In a message of congratulations, the prince said that without the help of the Vietnamese, Laotian and Chinese Communists and neo-Communists, "our people would be waging a hopeless struggle against the American colossus." ## Red China Celebrates, Blasts U.S.

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Communist China celebrated its 21st year of existence today with a mass rally in Peking and generally muted attacks on the United States and the Soviet Union.

Half a million soldiers and civilians wound through the Gate of Heavenly Peace Square under the eyes of Mao Tse-tung, the 76-year-old Communist party chairman, and his heir-designate, Defense Minister Lin Piao, 63.

Lin, in the only speech of the occasion, boasted that "our national defense has been greatly strengthened" and that "U.S. imperialism and (Soviet) social-imperialism are most isolated and are having a very tough time."

But the tone of his brief remarks was restrained. There was no reference to a possible launch of a Chinese intercontinental ballistic missile which some Western sources had predicted would highlight the anniversary celebration.

Mao and Lin, described by Peking Radio as in good health and high spirits, mounted the rostrum in midmorning to the cheers of the thousands within the square. After Lin's speech, the parade lasted for two hours.

Some 1,000 guests were on the red walls of the Forbidden City, the ancient palace grounds flanking the square. Among them was Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state who has set up an exile government in Peking.

In a message of congratulations, the prince said that without the help of the Vietnamese, Laotian and Chinese Communists and neo-Communists, "our people would be waging a hopeless struggle against the American colossus." He described China as "henceforth among the three biggest powers in the world."

Sihanouk was the highest-ranking foreigner present; most countries were represented by low-ranking officials.

The Soviet Union was represented by its vice foreign minister in charge of border negotiations, but the Russians sent a warmer than usual congratulatory telegram.

Lin Piao's speech, distributed by the New China News Agency, was largely a repetition of assertions made Wednesday by Premier Chou En-lai and the Chinese press.

Key Passages in Report on Pornography

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here are key passages from the report of the Presidential Commission on Obscenity and Pornography issued Wednesday:

The commission recommends that federal, state and local legislation prohibiting the sale, exhibition, or distribution of sexual materials to consenting adults should be repealed.

Extensive empirical investigation, both by the commission and others, provides no evidence that exposure to or use of explicit sexual materials play a significant role in the causation of social or individual harms such as crime delinquency, sexual or nonsexual deviancy or severe emotional disturbances.

On the positive side, explicit sexual materials are sought as a source of entertainment and information by substantial numbers of American adults.

The commission recommends the adoption by the states of legislation...prohibiting the commercial distribution or display for sale of certain sexual materials to young persons.

The commission believes that only pictorial material should fall within prohibitions upon sale or commercial display to young persons...Many worthwhile textual works, containing considerable value for young persons, treat sex in an explicit manner.

The commission recommends enactment of state and local legislation prohibiting public displays of sexually explicit pictorial materials...Verbal materials are not included within the recommended prohibition.

The fact that there are few if any "dirty" words which do not already appear fairly often in conversation among many Americans...indicates that such words are no longer capable of causing the very high degree of offense to a large number of persons which would justify legislative interference.

Brownouts Leave Public in Doubt

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The widespread power shortage on the eastern seaboard last week has left federal officials fretting over the reliability of the nation's electric power system.

Massive generator failures combined with maintenance shutdowns brought the four-day "brownout" affecting 15 states.

It also brought a new Federal Power Commission investigation of utility firms' practices in scheduling and coordinating generator maintenance. And it prompted questions about the industry's quality control procedures.

The generator failures "suggest that one of our big problems is the quality control on equipment like that," said S. David Freeman, director of the energy policy staff of the White House' office of science and technology. Then Freeman added:

"In my mind, the story of last week is the story of the blackout that didn't happen. By and large it's a success story."

Last week's brownout was the nation's eighth significant power shortage of the summer. Northeastern states were hit hardest and most often, but shortages were felt at times during the summer as far west as Wisconsin.

It could have been worse. "I think we were lucky we had a relatively mild summer," said an official of the Office of Emergency Planning.

The OEP had warned in May of possible power shortages. Reserves of 15 to 20 per cent are considered adequate, but the agency found the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Maryland complex had reserves of only 9 per cent, the Carolinas and Virginia 6.5 per cent and Commonwealth Edison in Chicago 5.5 per cent.

The 12-company Pennsylvania-Jersey-Maryland (PJM) combine ran out of power in May when a hot spell hit while some generators were undergoing periodic maintenance.

And when the sun rose in a cloudless sky over the Eastern seaboard last Tuesday, giving birth to an unusual September heat wave, PJM again was caught without a sizeable share of its generating capacity.

In addition to generators which had been undergoing maintenance since early in the month, explosion, fire, leaks, faulty valves and trouble with coal clinkers had knocked out seven others in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Early in the day steam pressure collapsed on one generator, the turbines failed on another. A faulty pump feeding the boiler forced a third to operate at reduced capacity. By 10:15 a.m., the temperature was rising toward the mid-90s, air conditioners were humming all over the Eastern megapolis and utilities were reaching into Illinois and Ontario for power. It wasn't enough. Power was reduced by 3 per cent. Six minutes later it was reduced by another 2 per cent.

By 2:30 p.m. the heat wave was fierce. The big 820-megawatt No. 2 generator at the Keystone power station near Johnstown, Pa., broke down.

At that point, PJM was encountering its heaviest demands of the summer with nearly a third of its generating capacity gone. Its neighbors, meanwhile, had troubles, too.

New York had been limping along all summer and could hardly provide much help. It sent some power to PJM but had to cut its voltage. In Virginia and the Carolinas generators knocked out or idled for maintenance forced cutbacks there.

The crisis lasted another day, then began easing as damaged generators were repaired and the heat slackened. But questions remained: Why did it happen? Why is the nation faced with persistent power shortages?

Officials at the Federal Power Commission pull out elaborate charts to show how utilities plan a year ahead, with monthly reviews, to perform preventive maintenance on generators. Reserves are so small that all the work must be squeezed around the summer to get it done, said Cleve R. Jacobsen, chief of the FPC's section of interconnection and coordination.

Freeman, of the White House office, in discussing quality control, said both manufacturers and utilities are lax.
